

The Time to Think Facilitator Course

MITZI WYMAN

Build on your Foundation Course and develop the expertise to teach and deliver the Thinking Environment approach professionally, helping the groups and organisations you work with become Thinking Environments.

What this course offers you

This course takes you from understanding the group applications to being able to teach and deliver them yourself. It is for leaders, managers and facilitators who have completed the Foundation Course and want to deepen their expertise.

- Refresh your understanding of the Ten Components and the building blocks of a Thinking Environment.
- Develop your ability to teach and facilitate the group applications professionally.
- Explore how to apply the approach when designing events and sessions of different kinds.
- Work towards qualification as a Time to Think Facilitator through the course, supervised Practicum and membership of the Time to Think Collegiate.

The applications you will work with

The course builds on the applications you experienced on the Foundation Course and prepares you to teach and deliver them.

- Thinking Pairs, Dialogue, Rounds and Open Discussion.
- Transforming Meetings, the Time to Think Council, and Presentations in a Thinking Environment.
- Facilitation of Groups as a bespoke application.

The Facilitator Course and Practicum

MITZI WYMAN

Course format

A small group of two to five participants. The usual format is three full days, arranged as two days plus one further day, followed by Practicum work and supervision. Current dates and formats are listed on my website.

Open courses are held online via Zoom. Face-to-face delivery can also be discussed.

Your course fee includes

- The Facilitator Course and support through your supervised Practicum.
- Four one-hour supervision sessions with me as you complete the Practicum work.

Successfully completing the course and Practicum, and joining the Time to Think Collegiate, qualifies you as a Time to Think Facilitator, listed on the Time to Think website.

Investment

£1,650 per person, including supervision.

A 10% pathway discount applies when you enrol in the Foundation and Facilitator courses upfront: £2,196 in total, saving £244.

Dates and enquiries

For current course dates and formats, visit the regularly updated dates page. All published times are UK time.

mitziwyman.com/programme-dates.html

To discuss whether this is the right next step for you, book a conversation with me.

Working with me

I teach these courses personally. I am a member of the Time to Think Faculty and have trained extensively with Nancy Kline. My work draws on more than 20 years in leadership development, alongside my background in law and organisational psychiatry and psychology.